P R E F A C E.

The genealogical material herein presented has been compiled from various sources. Search for data bearing upon the war service of John Barns was made in the following libraries:- Library of Congress; John Crerar library, Chicago; New York City library; library of the New York Genealogical Society; New York State library, Albany; Peabody Institute, Baltimore; Presbyterian Historical Society, Philadelphia. It was not until 1924 that the search was rewarded with the unearthing of personal records of John Barns. The information which has thus far been secured, should be of interest to all of his descendants.

Among the many who have contributed valuable material relative to the various families, special mention should be made of Miss Elizabeth Barnes, of Fredericksburg, Ohio (No. 2-1-7 in our list.) Mrs. Addie Barnes (No. 2-6-14) and Mrs. Nancy Small (No. 2-6-16) both of Idaville, Indiana, and A.J.P. Barnes (No. 4-4-1) of Joplin Missouri. The assistance rendered by each of these individuals has been invaluable.

A word of explanation will make clear the system of numbering used. Each digit represents the place in the family of the individual and his ancestors. Take, for example, No. 2-1-7 mentioned in the preceding paragraph. Captain John Barns had eight children, the 2d child being Thomas Barns. The first digit -2- indicates the line of descent through Thomas Barns. The second digit -1- indicates the first child of Thomas Barns, who was John Barns (2-1 in the list). The third digit -7- indicates the seventh child of John Barns (2-1).

II.

As another example, the last number mentioned in the preceding paragraph is No. 4-4-1. The first digit -4- indicates the 4th child of Captain John Barnes, namely Alexander Barnes. The second digit -4- indicates the 4th child of Alexander Barnes, who was William Barnes (4-4). The third digit indicates the first child of William Barnes (4-4).

The compilers have made every effort to secure accurate data with respect to names, and dates. It is too much to hope that the dates with reference to so large a number of individuals are all correct, but the material has been checked over carefully and represents the best information available.

This material was originally gathered together to satisfy personal interest regarding the history of the family in America. Because it is felt that the material will prove of interest to a large number of members of the family, this attempt is being made to make the data accessible to others who may desire it.

JOHN BARNES AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Chapter 1.

John Barnes was born in County Armagh, Ulster, Ireland, in 1735. The family name, which was probably originally "Burns", was signed "Barns" by John Barnes, as is evidenced by specimens of his signatures preserved in the Williams Papers, Vol. 1, pages 106 and 107, (New York Genealogical Society Library, New York City.) So far as is known, all of his sons so spelled the family name. His grandson, John Barnes (2-1) was the first to add "e" to his name, but none of his brothers adopted the practice. His brother Thomas (2-6) spelled his name "Barns" to the day of his death. The general addition of the "e" occurred during the civil war, when enlisting clerks entered the names under that spelling.

It is unfortunate that this change took place. The family name is not "Barnes," but "Barns." In listing the names in this history, the spelling used by the individuals is followed.

John Barnes was married to Miss Hamilton, who was a descendant of a General Hamilton- a Scottish general who participated in the wars in Ireland in the 17th century. The names "Alexander" and "Hamilton" are handed down with great frequency in the family of one of her children.

Emigration to America.

Sometime prior to the outbreak of the War of the Revolution, John Barnes emigrated from Ireland to New York where for a time he lived "very close to New York City." He is said at one time to have owned land on a site which is now part of New York city. Tradition is that he was obliged to abandon this land, but when and why we have no means of knowing. At any rate, he removed to the northern part of the state and settled in what was then called "Charlotte county", now known as Washington county. The exact time of this journey is not at present known, but he may be identical with the John Barnes mentioned under the following description in the Barnes Family Year Book, 1907:-

"Immigrant Barnes.

No. 22. John Barnes came from Ulster, Ireland, about 1760 to Albany county, New York. He soon removed to western Pennsylvania. His descendants are said to be quite numerous in some sections of the west."

The earliest definite date in the family tradition associated with New York state is the date of birth of his son Thomas (2) in New York state in August 1763.

As John Barnes was a strong and life-long adherent of the Associate (or Burgher) Presbyterian church, it may be of interest to refer to the origin of the congregation of that denomination in New Perth (Now Salem), New York, of which he became a member. His name does not appear among the signers of the pastoral call mentioned below. He came to America prior to the time when the congregation as a whole emigrated.

"Near 200 families of Presbyterians in and about Monaghan and Ballybay did, about the year 1748, leave their former teachers because they could not find themselves edified by them, nor believe some of the things they taught. They forwarded a petition to the Associate Burgher Presbytery of Glasgow, Scotland, soliciting preaching. At the presbytery meeting at Sterling June 27, 1749, presbytery appointed Thomas Clark who went to Ballybay and preached his first sermon on July 3, 1749, and was ordained July 23, 1751. He was arrested and persecuted because of his objection to taking oaths by kissing the Bible, and was imprisoned on several occasions. This led to his furnishing a list of one hundred families to the Hon. Robert Harper of Columbia College, N.Y., who desired to come to America. Robert Harper secured a grant of 40,000 acres of land near Lake George. Although some of the congregation preceded, the main body sailed 300 strong from Newry on May 10, 1764. Of this journey Thomas Clark wrote: "May 10, 1764 we sailed from Newry. The all-gracious God carried 300 of us safe over the devouring deep in the arms of His mercy. Praised be his name. We arrived safe at New York July 28th." Part of the congregation went to Cedar Spring, South Carolina, and part went with their pastor to Stillwater, New York. They soon found that the grant secured by Robert Harper was undesirable, and after some delay Rev. Thomas Clark secured another grant near New Perth (now Salem), where his congregation was soon settled. In 1766 they erected their first meeting house. More immigrants joined them from 1767 to 1770. On March 2, 1774 the legal name of New Perth was granted to this settlement on White Creek. On July 27, 1777 during Burgoyne's invasion, they met and erected a stockade about the church and called it Fort Williams, in honor of Dr. John Williams, one of their military members. Dr. Clark remained as pastor until 1780 or 1782 when he removed to South Carolina. (Extracts from N.Y. Genealogical Record Vol. 34, 1903, pages 153 ff).

Pre-revolutionary Days.

The first mention thus far found of John Barns in the existing records of that time is dated November 14, 1769. The original, containing his signature, is preserved in "The Williams Papers", Vol. 1, page 17, N.Y. Genealogical Society Library.

"We the undersigners do-heroby solemnly bind ourselves and each of us to pay unto Joseph McCracken and John McCrea the several sums annexed to our subscriptions, being the sums adjudged proportional justly according to the value of our estates real and personal adjudged by the persons we voted to make said valuation for building a church in the township of New Perth, said payments we promise to make either in New York currency or in labour for aforesaid church as said Joseph and John shall require. Agreement the first day of December next. Witness our hand and seal the 14th November, 1769.

James Turner, Matthew Neal (?) and Samuel Croyer were by an unanimous vote of the congregation chosen as assessors to value the estates real and personal of the subscribers said 14th day of November, 1769."

The next mention of John Barns occurs in a document which he signed, dated December 1, 1774. On that date a petition was drawn up by the "principal inhabitance, Freeholders of the County of Charlotte" requesting authority from the "Hon. Cadwalder Colden, Esq., Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Province of New York to cause to (two) persons to be elected to represent us in the General Assembly." The signers were requested to write their names in the columns under the name of the patent to which they belonged. The name of John Barns appears among the signers from the patent of "White Crick." This petition was endorsed January 25, 1775 as received in council and the further consideration thereof

Chapter II. THE REVOLUTIONARY PERIOD.

The Scotch-Irish emigrants were not long permitted to dwell in peace, The news of Lexington and Concord spread throughout New York, and the Continental Congress called upon that state for levies of troops. Three such calls were made by the Continental Congress, namely:- the first, early in 1775; the second, early in 1776; the third, in the summer of 1776.

The military forces of New York were of three classes:
(See New York in the Revolution, James A. Roberts)-

1. The Line, the regiments of which were in the United States service under the command of General Washington.
2. The Levies, which were composed of drafts of men drawn from the different militia regiments. These troops could be sent outside the state.
3. The Militia, whose regiments could be called for service outside the state for periods of three months.

"The militia was called out when wanted, kept as long as wanted, and the soldiers then sent to their homes. Sometimes a regiment would be called out half a dozen times in the course of a year, or for half a dozen days at a time, and again it might not be needed for the entire year. Officers and men seem to have served in different organizations almost indiscriminately. At one call they were in one regiment or company, and at another call in another regiment or company. It is therefore very difficult to keep trace of them on the different pay rolls or "pay books" as they were sometimes called." (N.Y. in Rev. by Roberts).

While as a whole the residents of Charlotte county were loyal to the American cause, there was a strong Tory element. This frontier suffered severely throughout the Revolution from the raids of Indians, from the formidable expeditions of the British, and from the machinations of Tory sympathizers.

John Barnes was identified from the very beginning with the cause of freedom. He served first with the Line (June 1775 to January 1776), and afterward in the Militia and Rangers throughout the remainder of the War.

The Year 1775

John Barnes served in the Line from June 29, 1775 to January 1776 as a Second Lieutenant in the Second New York (or Albany) Regiment in the 7th Company. His captain was Joseph McCracken, and the Colonel was Goose Van Schaick "vice Myndert Resobloom." In a warrant issued by the Provincial Congress, dated June 29, 1775 the following officers were appointed to recruit troops:-

Charlotte county:- a warrant to Joseph McCracken, Captain; Moses Martin, 1st Lieutenant; John Barnes, 2d Lieutenant. Dated June 29, 1775. Signed by Robert V. Rensselaer. Reference to this service occurs in the following places:-

- 5) Documents relating to the Colonial History of New York, by B. Fernald, Vol. XV State Archives Vol. 1, page 528- The New York Line in the Continental Establishment.

The Year 1776.

Early in 1776, John Barns was still a Second Lieutenant, as his name occurs among the commissioned officers under the command of Major Joab Hoisington appointed and recommended by the Committee of Safety for counties of Gloucester and Cumberland (See Calendar of Historical Mss (N.Y.) Vol. II, page 141.)

Later in the year he was promoted to be a First Lieutenant in Captain John Strong's Company of Rangers under the command of Major Joab Hoisington, his enlistment date with that company being given as August 13, 1775. (Cal. of N.Y. Hist. Mss. Vol 2, page 141. Misc. Papers 34;624). Col. Goose Van Schaick was still in command of these troops as among the list of his officers reported to Major General Schuyler on October 7, 1776 occurs the name of John Barns as 1st Lieutenant. (Cal. of N.Y. Hist. Mss. Vol. 2, page 44.)

The subsequent service of John Barns was with the Militia and Rangers in which he rose to a captaincy. It should be remembered that it was the Militia which defeated Burgoyne.

The Year 1777.

The year 1777 was a very trying one for the colonists in northern New York, for during this year Burgoyne led a strong invading force of combined British and Indian troops from the north in an attempt to cut the colonies into two parts. The defense of Fort Schuyler, the "Bloody battle of Oriskany" (Aug. 6, 1777) which prevented St. Leger from reaching Burgoyne, the battle of Bennington (Aug. 16, 1777) which prevented Burgoyne from receiving supplies, the battles of Saratoga (Sept. 19 and Oct. 7) followed by Burgoyne's surrender on October 17, 1777 called forth the utmost efforts on the part of these frontier colonists. In addition to the dangers of combat, the militia troops from these regions had to remove their families to places of safety from the savage warfare of the Indians, and to see their homes plundered and their crops destroyed. Every available man was summoned to service. In a list of men to be served with service notices issued during this period by John Williams, No. 20 on the list is John Barns, senior; 21 is John Barns, junior (1); 22 is Thomas Barns(2). (See Williams Papers Vol 1, page 84.) Thomas Barns (2) at this time was but 14 years of age, but he served by helping to bury the dead after one of the battles.

During this crisis the colonial forces commandeered supplies from loyal colonists and, in fact, in many cases destroyed their crops to prevent them falling into the hands of the enemy. At the same time, they seized and sold property belonging to disaffected persons. Thus, in the Williams Papers

Vol. 1, page 93, occurs the following entry:-

"I, Robert Hopkins, received from John Barns one pound eight shillings and eight pence being the charges of a horse taken up for the use of the public, supposed to be
P. William Hoofets. August 20th, 1777.
(Signed) Robert Hopkins.

Witness present:-
James McNees.

Again, on page 95 of the same volume in a list of sale of cattle taken from disaffected persons dated October 2, 1777 is the following entry signed by John Barns:-

"Cow late belonging to James Campbell S-S-O

The members of the Associate church determined to effect an organization for their own defense in case the Militia should be drawn off, so for the purposes of this emergency the church formed itself into a company, and drew up articles of regulation which all signed, (John Barns being among the signers.) These articles of regulation give such an interesting picture of this group of colonists that they are copied in full with the original spelling:

Articles of regulation for the Associate Company in the District of New Perth, Charlotte county:-

"As we understand we are to be under no officer but those of our own company of our own Choosing for the sole purpose of defending the inhabitants of Said District in case the Militia is drawn off or the enemy invade the Same & that our officers are to exact no Service of us but Such as are agreeable. To this which we take to be the true intent of the company & we farther agree that we shall well and truly obey our officers herein in all their Lawful Commands & as we ought to be an example unto others for godliness & soberity we hereby agree that we shall endeavor a Close walk with god in first and Second Table Duties & in our place to oppose those that do not & yt these in our company that are disorderly in these matters shall be punished according to their crime at the Direction of a court-martial of Said Company & the Majority of of votes of said company.

"Whereas it is gods Holy will that every company of the Host going to battle or abiding at home Should keep from Moral Evil.

1. that none of us Shall curse or Swear profainly or get intoxicated with liquor under the former pains
2. that non of us Shall mock or Slander any person but behave discreetly & Sobarly especially as the youth look to us for an example
3. that no hot Liquor Shall come or be brought upon the Parade upon any pretence except when judged douly by the consent of the company & that it be devided out not a bottle go about 4. that none of us Shall profane the Holy Sabbath under any idle pretence whatsoever
5. that the captain or other officer or Some apointed Shall pray upon the parade or elsewhere for the pardon and reformation of America
6. that all who break or neglect said rules Shall be deemed as enemys to their bleeding country
7. Let it ever be remembered that all who hold up to God the Redeemer's merits by faith as the Shoute & seek god even in the day of wrath & make conscience to walk with God need not fear what the flesh can do."
(Copied from an original paper in the possession of Mrs. Harriet E. McClellan of Salem, N.Y., a great grand-daughter of John Foster whose name appears in the list of signers).

The fears and precautions of the Associate congregation were fully justified by succeeding events. The defenses fell before Burgoyne and the American General Schuyler ordered the settlers to leave their homes immediately and seek places of safety. All who were loyal to the colonial cause followed his instructions, among them being the greater part of the Associate congregation who fled to Massachusetts Bay colony.

The refugees were in great distress and requested relief in a petition signed on September 1, 1777 and forwarded to the New York Assembly. The signatures of all of the leading members of this congregation (84 in all) are attached to this petition, among them being the names of John Barns senior and John Barns junior:-

(Signed) John Williams, Chairman of County Committee

John Rowan, Chairman of New Perth Committee and signed by 82 other members of the Associate congregation, the names of John Barns Sr., and John Barns, Jr., being among the signers.

It is probable that John Barns presented this petition to the New York Assembly on behalf of the petitioners, for during the year 1777 he was elected as one of the senators from New Perth in Charlotte county, receiving 27 votes. The first session of the Assembly met at Kingston from September 1 to October 1, 1777, and John Barns attended. He did not attend the second session. (See Cal. of N.Y. Hist. Mss. Rev. Papers Vol. 2, page 243; N.Y. in the Revolution, Supplement 1901, page 154; History of Washington County, N.Y. by Dr. Asa Fitch, Par. 992).

For his military services during the campaign of 1777, John Barns received pay for which he signed the following receipt, the original of which is preserved in the Williams Papers, Vol 1, page 106 to 107:-

"Received of Col. John Williams the sum of forty-two pounds, two shillings and eight pence in full for one hundred and seventeen days service as Lieutenant and the sum of four pounds ten shillings and eight pence for rations, it being the sum due for my service while under his command in the campaign of 1777.

46-13-4

(Signed) John Barns."

The Year 1778

On April 4, 1778 John Barns was appointed captain "vice Beatty, disaffected" in the Dorset Regiment, Charlotte County Militia. (See Doc. Rel. Col. Hist. N.Y. by Fernow, Vol XV, State Archives of N.Y. Vol. 1, page 276; Minute of Council of Appointment, Vol. 1, page 49- N.Y. State Library).

It would appear that he was later transferred from this command to organize a new company, for on Feb. 6, 1779 John MacNeal was appointed captain of this company, while on May 4, 1778 Governor Clinton issued general orders of which the following was one:-

"The company ordered to be raised for the defense of this state to continue in service for the space of one year to be computed from the first day of January last, and to be commanded by John Barnes is to consist of eighty men including non-commissioned officers instead of seventy as heretofore ordered." (See Document 1358 b, George Clinton Papers, N.Y. State Library.)

Colonel Williams, against whom charges of insubordination were made on June 28, 1778 stated, in his defense, that following Burgoyne's defeat he arrested everyone in Charlotte county who had gone over to Burgoyne and had fined them, and had later adopted the following policy:-

"I issued orders that those who chose to enlist with Captain Barnes for the defense of the county should be cleared of the fines." See Williams Papers Vol. 1, page 143.

Captain John Barnes and his company of Rangers served for a time at least at Fort Ann. (cf Doc. Rel. Col. Hist. N.Y. by Fernow, Vol. XV, State Archives Vol. 1, page 538 under "Additional Officers of New York Troops".)

Mention is made also in other documents of Captain John Barnes in command of the 1st Regiment of Dutchess County, New York troops stationed on the frontier of New York under Col. Morris Graham, his name being on the pay roll from April 6th, 1778 to August 1st, 1788.

The Year 1779 to 1782.

During the year 1779 an expedition was sent under Colonels Willett and Van Schaick against the Onondagas Indians, who in turn carried out horrible retaliatory raids. It is probable that John Barnes and his company of Rangers saw much active service during this period, although no detailed records of his further military service have as yet been found. Family tradition definitely states that he served seven years throughout the Revolution. His name appears on the list of grand jurors in Charlotte county court, April term, 1779. He also sold his land that year.

The last mention of his name in connection with Charlotte county occurs in 1782, when he signed a petition sent by the residents of "Granvil" dated March 4, 1782, requesting of the New York Assembly that they be admitted to the state of New York, instead of the newly organized state of New Hampshire. As a petition from White Creek was forwarded the next day, March 5, 1782, it appears that John Barnes had removed to Granvil. (Doc. Hist. of N.Y., E.B. O'Callaghan, Vol. IV. p, 606.).

Dr. Asa Fitch, whose father was a member of John Barnes' company, comments as follows in his "Manuscript History of Washington county, New York", (a copy of which is in the New York Genealogical Society's library):-

Para. 181 John Barnes commanded one of the most active scouting parties in the country during the Revolutionary War. He was no connection, I believe, of the family from whom Henry Barnes preceptor formerly of the Academy descended. He owned and lived on Lot No. 52, the Ira Carswell place. He sold this to Nathaniel Carswell, Abner's father, and took his pay in Continental money which depreciated so in value that it about ruined him. He moved from here to Pennsylvania, the exact place not remembered. In his company were the following persons, viz. James McNish, Abner Carswell, Robert and Capt. John Armstrong (Their brother Major Thomas perhaps also belonged to it), Isaac Lytle of Hebron, Robert Boyd, Esq. Livingston of Hebron. Several others also belonged to the party- names not now remembered. Often but part of the company were out, the number depending on the service in which they were at different times engaged.

(Note- in other paragraphs Dr. Fitch stated that his father and John McDonald were members of the company).

Para. 182, 183. (Incidents are given of Capt. Barns' activities against disaffected persons, and the attempts made to capture one named John Coughlin, and Lord Skeens.)

John Barns' Land in Charlotte county.

John Barns at one time owned Lots 51, 52 and 61 in Charlotte County. These formed part of the DeLancy and DuBois patent, granted on March 8, 1764. In 1767 this grant was transferred to a list of owners under the name of the Turner Patent. At that time these lots (51 and 52) were owned by Hugh Bolton. (See Fitch's History, para. 1890). John Barns appears to have bought them from Hugh Bolton, and on May 1, 1779 sold them to Nathaniel Carswell, a member of his company of Rangers. The deed was recorded May 23, 1781 and the price stated in the record is 2,000 pounds. (Liber B-1, page 22, County Clerk's Records, Washington county, N.Y.) This farm is now known (1927) as the Smith farm, and is situated about $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles west of Salem, N.Y. The three lots totalled 179 acres and twenty-six perches. Fitch (para. 1788 to 1790) states that the consideration was "250 pounds hard money and a large additional sum of continental money." As stated in Fitch's narrative, through depreciation of the continental currency John Barns was financially ruined.

Under such circumstances it is little wonder that the opportunities in the west allured him. He and his family moved to Washington County, Pennsylvania.

Only one other reference to his business transactions has been found. It is concerning an "account of corn carried to the store of Flo. Bancher in the New City." From it we learn that John Barns brought 50 bushels of corn from White Creek, a distance of 51 miles, and that he received for it "382 1/2 dollars in continental currency, an equivalent of 153 pounds in New York currency." (Williams Papers Vol. 1, page 189). No date is given.

Note:- The Williams Papers, and the Manuscript History of Washington county, New York by Dr. Asa Fitch, are to be found in the New York Genealogical Society's library, New York City.

CHAPTER III. REMOVAL TO PENNSYLVANIA AND OHIO.

At the close of the War of the Revolution, John Barns and his family moved to western Pennsylvania, the exact time of the journey being at present unknown. There is some traditional evidence that he went via the Genesee valley in western New York and thence to Pennsylvania. The family was in Washington county, Pennsylvania in 1788, the date of birth of one of the grandchildren.

In May 1790, John Barns and his family (which now included at least two grandchildren 22 months and 3 months of age, respectively) descended the Ohio river in flat boats to the present site of Cincinnati, and settled in the Little Miami valley. The boats stopped at Marietta, Ohio, on the journey. An interesting description of such a journey, made a year previously, has been given by Major Samuel S. Forman:-

"The flat boats were flat-bottomed and boarded over the top and appeared like floating houses. Uncle's boat was a seventy-foot keel boat, decker over, with a cabin for lodging purposes, but too low to stand up erect. The beds and bedding lay on the floor, and the insides were lined with plank to prevent the Indians from penetrating through with their balls should they attack us . . . All boats were liable to be attacked every hour by a merciless foe, oftentimes led on by renegade whites . . . The boats were guided with oars, seldom used, except the steering oar or when passing islands . . . We seldom ventured to land on our journey, for fear of lurking Indians . . . We landed and stopped at Marietta at the mouth of the Muskingum, where there was a United States garrison."

The next settlements below Marietta were at Limestone (now Maysville, Ky.) about 60 miles above Cincinnati; Columbia, at the mouth of the Little Miami 6 miles above Cincinnati; and Fort Washington (now Cincinnati). The distance from Marietta to Cincinnati was some 300 miles. General Harmar was then in command of the troops of the Northwestern territory and was located at Fort Washington (1790.)

"Some distance above Fort Washington, the Scioto River empties into the Ohio. Near this river was a cave which the whites had not discovered till after Harmer's defeat (by the Indians in 1790. Compiler's note). Here the Indians would sally out against boats ascending the Ohio."

Extracts from "Narrative of a Journey Down the Ohio and Mississippi in 1788-1790, by Major Samuel S. Forman Robt. Clarke & Co. Cincinnati, 1838.

"At the time here spoken of (1788-1790) the woods were literally swarming with Indians, scattered in every direction; and in addition to other difficulties, those who ventured into the wilderness from duty or choice were in constant danger of meeting some of these parties and suffering the consequences. It was a matter of surprise to all who were conversant with the condition of the army during the whole period of the Indian Wars, that so many and such fearful risks were run, attended with so small a number of disasters."

John Barns and his family lived "in a fort at Cincinnati" for some time. It was probably not till after the final defeat of the Indians in 1794 that they removed any great distance from its protection. One of his sons (James-(6) was married "in a block house near the mouth of the Little Miami river" in 1795. One of his grandchildren (2-1) stated that as a child he used to be terrorized by the small bands of Indians who passed their cabins in the dead of night and stopped "to whack on the doors with their tomahawks". These cabins stood "on the bluffs where Cincinnati now stands."

John Barns died "near Cincinnati" in 1804. The place of his burial is at present unknown. The date and place of death of his wife are also unknown.

How early this period was in the history of Ohio may be better realized if it is pointed out that the first permanent settlement in Ohio was made at Marietta in 1788. The Indians were not finally defeated until 1794. Ohio was admitted as a state in 1803. Its first railroad was not in operation until 1836. The greater part of John Barns' surviving descendants had moved to Indiana and Kentucky before that date.

John Barns was a pioneer. His descendants owe him a lasting debt of gratitude for the courage and determination which led him to come to the new world, to fight for America's independence, and to seek his fortune in the new west. He and his equally courageous wife endured much in those days as they journeyed from New York to Pennsylvania, and later to the frontier settlements in Ohio. They were of that plain, humble, religious stock who were the salt of the earth. They left no legacy of great wealth to their children, but they implanted into their children something of their own courageous spirit and deep religious convictions which, after all, constitute life's best legacy. Their children shared not only their religious faith (all being steadfast adherents of the Associate church) but also their pioneer spirit. Alexander (4) James (6) and David (7) went on into Indiana in its early days, while the children of Thomas (2) were early settlers in Holmes, Greene, Clark, and Hamilton counties in Ohio, and later in Indiana. William (5) and Ann (3) settled in the vicinity of Lexington, Kentucky. The descendants of William (5) are said to have moved later to Arkansas. Two sons Alexander (4) James (6) and one grandson (John 2-1) of Captain John Barns were in the active service in the war of 1812, a number of his descendants served in the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and in the World War.

It is a matter of regret to the compilers that they have as yet been unable to learn more of John Farns' wife. It is thought that her first name was Elizabeth. The only definite information now available is that she was a Hamilton, and presumably she was related also to the Alexanders. Her name does not appear upon the deed of transfer for the land in Charlotte county, New York. There is some traditional evidence that she survived her husband and that her burial place is the churchyard of the "little stone church" near Xenia, Ohio, but the evidence is uncertain.

CHAPTER IV. FAMILY TRADITIONS.

The references given in the account of John Barnes' military service during the War of the Revolution were limited to historical records of the time. It will be of interest also to his descendants to know the strong family tradition concerning such services. These traditions have been handed down through three lines of descent, namely, in the families of his sons Thomas (2), Alexander (4), and James (6). The traditions unite in stating that John Barnes enlisted in the War of the Revolution and served seven years, serving in New York state and being a captain of Minute Men in that state. Thomas (2) helped to bury the dead after one of the battles, being too young to participate as a combatant. The strength of the family tradition with reference to these matters may be more evident when it is pointed out that John Barnes (2-1) and Thomas Barnes (2-6) who discussed these matters with their children--some of whom are still living--were 16 and 5 years of age respectively at the death of their Revolutionary grandfather, and 29 and 19 years of age respectively at the death of their father Thomas (2), who helped bury the dead during the Revolution.

For the benefit of those who do not have access to the records, some of them will be quoted. It may be added, in passing, that the descendants of Captain John Barnes are eligible (and a number have been accepted) for membership in the Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, and similar organizations. Alexander (4), James (6), and John (2-1) served in the War of 1812.

I. The Family of Thomas Barnes (2)

Tradition in the family of Thomas Barnes (2) told by him to his son John Barnes (2-1), and by him to his daughter Elizabeth Barnes 2-1-7 of Fredericksburg, Ohio, who says:-

"I recall quite clearly that father told us a number of times that his grandfather fought in the Revolutionary War, and that he lived in New York state very close to New York city. At the close of the War he moved to Washington county, Penna. Father was born in that county. When he was about one year old they went down the Ohio river in a flat boat to Cincinnati and lived in a fort. After awhile his father and mother moved to Greene county. I do not recall him as saying anything about his grandfather leaving Cincinnati, but he made us children quite shaky sometimes by telling us of hearing a bunch of Indians often passing by their cabin during the night and stopping to whack on the door with their tomchawks."

When asked again about the location near New York city, she replied:- "I remember my father to have said something about his grandfather having at one time owned some land within what is now the limits of New York city. He was chased off by Indians or something happened, I cannot remember what, and he never got anything for his land."

Tradition in the family of Thomas Barnes (2), told by him to his son Thomas (2-6), and by him to his children, and recorded by his daughters Mrs. Addie Barnes (2-6-12) and Mrs. James Small (2-6-14) of Idaville, Indiana, as follows:-

"What father said of the history of the Barnes family."

"John Barnes was born in 1765. He married Miss Hamilton. Eight children were born to them:- James (a soldier in 1812), Alexander (a soldier in 1812), John, Thomas (who helped bury the dead in the Revolutionary War), David and Betsy (twins), William and Ann. These may not be arranged according to age."

"John Barnes, Sr. was captain in the Revolutionary War in 1776. He served seven years till 1783. Also was a captain of Minute Men in the state of New York. Afterwards he came to Pennsylvania and about 1793 to Ohio. He died in 1804 near Cincinnati, Ohio."

"Thomas Barnes (2-1) was born in 1763. He helped bury the dead in the Revolutionary War, being about 14 years old. He was married to Jane McClain in 1786 (who was born in 1764). They had nine children:- John (b. July 20, 1788), James (b. Feb. 28, 1790), Agnes (b. July 9, 1792), Jane (b. Dec. 25, 1794), Allen (b. July 13, 1797), Thomas (b. Aug. 22, 1799), Elizabeth (b. Nov. 8, 1801), David (b. 1804), and Mrs. Feltner (b. 1809)."

(Note- the journey to Ohio was made in 1790 according to Elisabeth Barnes' account, based on the age of her father at the time of the journey) N.E.P.

II. The Family of Alexander (4)

Tradition handed down in the family of Alexander Barnes (4), and recorded in "The Counties of White and Pulaski, Indiana, Chicago, F.L. Battey & Co. 1883). A copy of this book is in the possession of Mrs. Addie Barnes, Idaville, Indiana. In a biographical sketch of Thomas W. Barnes, (45) on page 305 is the following account:-

"Thomas W. Barnes (4-5) was born in Greene county, Ohio, June 27, 1814, and is the son of Alexander and Sarah (Kirkpatrick) Barnes, natives of Pennsylvania. John Barnes, father of Alexander, came from Ireland to this country previous to the Revolutionary War in which he took part for eight years, serving as captain. Alexander Barnes was a soldier in the war of 1812. He died in Parke county, Ind. Feb. 16, 1880."

Tradition in the family of Alexander Barnes (4), and recorded by A.J.P. Barnes (4-4-1) of Joplin, Missouri from memory of what he heard from his father William Barnes (44) and uncle John Barnes (45) :-

"John Barnes was born in Ulster province, county Armagh, Ireland in 1735. About 1762 to 1765 he with a colony of Associate Presbyterians emigrated to America and settled in the Genessee valley near Albany, New York. John Barnes soon became actively identified on the side of the Colonies against oppression. He became a local leader and was commissioned Captain of a company of Minute Men, and took part in different campaigns. He was chosen representative to the State Legislature for one term. After the close of the Revolutionary War he moved to Westmoreland Land District in western Pennsylvania. It is reported afterwards that he had gone to Hamilton county, Ohio. So far as known he lived there until his death. Place of burial is unknown.

"John Barnes married a Miss Hamilton, a reported descendant of a General Alexander Hamilton. To this union were born eight children, viz., Thomas, John, William, Alexander, James, David, Elizabeth, Ann. Alexander and James moved to Xenia, Ohio (Clifton). Both these men served with General Hull at Detroit. Alexander served as first lieutenant. They were at the surrender of Detroit in 1812."

III. Traditions in the family of James Barnes (6).

Tradition handed down in the family of James Barnes (6) and recorded in "The History of Carroll County, Indiana, 1880, Kingston Bros. Chicago.). On page 247 in a biographical sketch of James H. Barnes (6-3) is found the following:-

"The subject of this sketch springs from an old New York family of Scotch-Irish descent, noted for patriotism and courage in defending civil and religious liberty in America.

"In the line of his paternal ancestry, his great grandfather John Barnes held a Captain's commission in the Colonial army during the Revolution, and commanded a company of minute men in the state of New York. After the close of the Revolutionary War, his grandfather James Barnes settled in the state of Ohio near the mouth of the Little Miami, and was married in a block house near that place in 1795. Seventeen years afterward, another war breaking out with England, he and his brother Alexander enlisted and served as comrades in the army under General Hull, and were present at the time of his surrender to the British at Detroit Aug. 16, 1812. Later, he moved with his family (including the father of the subject of this sketch) settling at Fort Harrison, Vigo county, where in 1818 he was elected Judge of the county. Thence in 1828 he moved to Adams township in this county at a point about twelve miles above Delphi, where the grandfather of our subject laid out the town of Lockport, which at the time was named Barnesville. . . ."

Miscellaneous Traditions

1. With reference to land in New York City.

Mrs. Addie Barnes (2-6-12) says:- "I do not know where they lived in New York state only Captain John Barnes' claim was where New York City now stands. I do not know why he had to leave New York, but he was driven away and came to Pennsylvania. I think the Tories were the trouble. I think they came to Pennsylvania at the close of the War, 1783 or soon after.

For Elizabeth Barnes' remembrance of this see page 18. (It seems probable that the land transaction discussed on page 12 has been confused in the family tradition.) H.E.B.

2. Who was Miss Hamilton?

Elizabeth Barnes says:- "My father said, as I recollect, that his aunt, his sister, and I were named for his grandmother. I think therefore that her name was Elizabeth Hamilton. Father used to say that his grandmother belonged to the Hamilton clan, and his mother to the McLean clan.

CHAPTER V. THE SECOND GENERATION.

Eight children were born to Captain John and Elizabeth (?) Hamilton Earns, but unfortunately the compilers have been able to collect detailed data concerning only four children, namely, Thomas (2), Alexander (4), James (6) and David (7). It is hoped that data concerning the other children may be found. The dates of birth of the children are unknown, except for the three mentioned, but the probable order of birth is represented below:-

1. John, jr., who signed the petition referred to on page 11. He is supposed to have settled at old Clifton, near Xenia, Ohio. No data is available.
2. Thomas, born in New York state in August, 1763, died Jan. 1, 1817. He helped to bury the dead during the Revolutionary War. For his descendants see page 27
3. Ann. Married a man named REID. At first they lived in Ohio, but later moved to Kentucky not far from the river. There were several children and the family visited with that of Thomas (2). Nothing further is known of this family.
4. Alexander, born in New York in 1770. A soldier in the War of 1812. For his descendants see page 62
5. William. Said to have settled in Kentucky. No data available.
6. James, born in New York state in 1778. A soldier in the War of 1812. For his descendants see page 71 ✓
7. David, a twin of Elizabeth. Said to have settled in Kentucky. Born Feb. 21, 1785 died Feb. 18, 1849. For his descendants see page 72.
8. Elizabeth, a twin of David, born Feb. 21, 1785. Said to have married a man named BARNETT, or BARNETT. No data available. She was living near Clifton, Ohio in 1841.

From Cincinnati the children scattered, some settling in Kentucky, and others in southern Ohio. Thomas (2) at one time owned 400 acres of land in Hamilton county. He and his family attended the Associate church at old Clifton, near Xenia, Ohio. Alexander (4) and James (6) served in the War of 1812, as did also John (2-1) and James (2-2) the oldest sons of Thomas (2). James (2-2) was a captain in this war.

Following the war of 1812, Alexander (4) and James (6) removed to Indiana, while the family of Thomas (2) in part settled in Clark, Greene and Holmes counties, Ohio. Thomas (2) who was a member of Massey Creek Associate Church near Xenia, Ohio, died suddenly of apoplexy in Greene county Ohio, on Jan, 1, 1817. In 1834, at least four of his sons, Thomas (2-6), Allen (2-5) David (2-3), and Amos Fulton (2-9) went to the town in Indiana which had been newly founded by their uncles. The descendants of these various families played an important part in the early settlement of Carroll and White counties, Indiana.

CHAPTER VI-THE DESCENDANTS OF THOMAS BARNES (2)

Thomas Barnes, son of John and Elizabeth (?) Hamilton Barnes, was born in New York in August 1763. At the age of about thirteen or fourteen years, he helped to bury the dead after some of the battles of the Revolution. At the close of the war he, with his father, removed to Washington county, Penna., where his marriage is supposed to have occurred. In 1788 he married Jane (Janette) McClain, who was born in 1764.

"Jane McClain's name was Janette. She was born in Scotland and in her early life spoke with quite a brogue. Father (John 2-1) used to amuse us children by imitating her brogue." (Quoted from Elizabeth Barnes (2-1-7) of Fredericksburg, Ohio.)

She had a brother John McClain who accompanied them to Ohio, and who had property in Hamilton county. He was unmarried. He died in 1846 or 1847, his estate being finally settled in 1847, when it was divided among Jane's children, other heirs named Reid, and Shields, being included.

In company with his father and other members of the family, Thomas Barnes (2) and Jane McClain emigrated from Washington county, Pa., to Hamilton county, Ohio. In a family bible in the possession of Elizabeth Barnes (2-1-7) the date of this journey is given as May, 1790. They lived in a fort near the mouth of the Little Miami for some time, and later in a cabin "on the bluffs where Cincinnati now stands", where his son Thomas (2-6) was born.

During the war of 1812, two sons John (2-1) and James (2-2) saw active service, Thomas (2) himself while engaged in some partiotic service suffered a fracture of the leg.

In 1814, Thomas Barnes (2) bought 400 acres of land in Hamilton county, Ohio from Jesse Hunt and his wife. The deed was recorded April 23, 1815, the recording fee being $1.12½. It appears that he lost title to part of this land through some complication, for the tax receipts paid by his heirs were on 200 acres. Such receipts for the years 1826 and 1830 are among the private papers of Thomas Barnes (2-6). Elizabeth (2-1-7) states that "he proved up a piece of land in that county, but through some complication the title was lost to him." The estate was finally settled in 1840. The administrator was named Jacob Mills.

Thomas Barnes (2) and his family attended the Massey Creek Associate church, a "little stone church" on the banks of the Little Miami not far from Xenia, Ohio. He died suddenly on January 1, 1817 of apoplexy, in Greene county, Ohio, and was buried in the Massey Creek cemetery. Jane McClain survived him for a number of years, making her home with her son Thomas (2-6). She died April 12, 1841 near Idaville, Indiana, and is buried in the old Seceder cemetery at that place.

Of their children, John (2-1) settled in Holmes county, Ohio. All of his other sons, after a few years in Ohio, removed to Indiana, about the year 1834.

Thomas (2) and Jane McClain Barnes had nine children, whose names and dates of birth and death were as follows:-

- 2-1. John Barnes, born July 20, 1783 in Washington county, Pa. Died February 22nd, 1860. See page 29. In later life he spelled his name with an "e".

- 2-2. James Barns, born February 28, 1790 in Washington county, Pa. Died October 1838 at Terra Haute, Indiana. He was a captain in the war of 1812 in Hull's army. His sword for many years was kept in his brother John's home. He was a very strong man physically, could "pick up a big log and carry it right off." He never married.
- 2-3 Agnes Nancy Barns, born July 9, 1792 in Ohio Died January 3, 1806.
- 2-4 Jane Barns, born Dec. 25, 1794 in Ohio. Died November 4, 1877 in Monmouth, Illinois. Buried in the cemetery at Monmouth. Married Robert Grant. See page 33.
- 2-5 Allen Barns, born July 13, 1797 in Ohio. Died March 15, 1830, at Idaville, Indiana where he is buried. See page 36.
- 2-6 Thomas Barns, born August 22, 1799 "on the bluffs where Cincinnati now stands", died at Idaville, Indiana May 17, 1835. See page 40.
- 2-7 Elizabeth Barns, born Nov. 8, 1801. Died 1830. Married George (?) Holcomb.
- 2-8 David Barns, born July 16, 1804. Died Oct. 1842 at Idaville, Indiana. See page 59.
- 2-9 Amos Fulton Barns, born Aug. 21, 1809, died Dec. 2, 1835. His was the third death in Jackson township, White county, Indiana. He died at the home of his brother Allen (2-5) He was unmarried.

So far as is known (and the signatures of a number of the above are extant) all of this family spelled the name (Barns) except John (2-1) who taught his children to spell the name "Barnes."

CHAPTER VII. The Descendants of Thomas (2)

and Jane McClain Barns (continued)

- 2-1 John Barnes, son of Thomas (2) and Jane McClain Barns. Born July 20, 1788 in Washington county, Penna. Died Feb. 22, 1860. A soldier in the war of 1812.

JOHN BARNES

One of his daughters, the late Mary Jane White of Hillersburg, Ohio, wrote the following account dated May 19, 1902:-

"I remember hearing our father (John Barnes) talk to his children as he was accustomed to do. He claimed to be the third generation from Ireland. Back perhaps as far as the latter part of the seventeenth century there was a war between Ireland and Scotland, and there was a General Hamilton who led the army on the side of freedom. His cause was defeated and he sacrificed his life and that of his young family in the struggle... A young Irishman named John Barnes wooed and won a Scotch lady whose name was Hamilton, a relative of the Scotch general referred to. To this union was born a large family among whom was a boy whose name was Thomas Barnes, who married a lady whose name was McLean... She and her husband located on the banks of the Miami and reared a large family of which we are the grandchildren. She had a brother, McLean, who emigrated there and owned property there. I think he had no family. John Barnes enlisted in the United States army of 1812 and maintained his position honorably. He married a Miss Jones during the year 1820, emigrated to Holmes county, Ohio, erected a log cabin in which two boys were born and died. Dense forests were there to be utilized. He acted as Justice of Peace for many years in the wild forests, and men as wild. He travelled twelve miles in order to retain his church connections, then the Associate Presbyterian, in which he acted as ruling elder. In 1822 his first wife died leaving two small girls ... In 1832 he married Christianna Haughey, who died in 1849 leaving seven children-three sons and four daughters. In 1852 he married Miss Hanna Humphrey. He died Feb. 22, 1860. He was a man greatly respected by all classes of people."

With reference to his first marriage, his brother Thomas (2-6) used to relate the following:-

"The Jones family was well-to-do and objected to this marriage. Mary Jones one day took a basket of eggs to town on horseback, and by arrangement John Barnes met her there and they were married. They returned to her home and announced their marriage, but her people told them to drive on and would not let them come in."

As was mentioned above, John Barnes (2-1) was married three times:-

First marriage was at Springfield, Clark county, Ohio on June 20, 1820 to Mary Jones, who was born in Greene county, Ohio Jan. 12, 1791, and Died October 14, 1829. There were four children.

Second marriage was at Millersburg, Ohio, April 24, 1834 to Christianna Haughey, who was born in Maryland April 5, 1802, and died June 4, 1849. There were seven children.

Third marriage was in Coshocton county, Ohio, to Hanna Humphrey, on Nov. 27, 1851. She was born in Rhode Island on May 26, 1812, and died in May 1870. There were no children.

- 2-6. Thomas Barnes, son of Thomas (2) and Jane McClain Barnes, Born at Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 22, 1799. Died at Idaville, Indiana May 17, 1885.

"Thomas Barnes was born in Hamilton county, Ohio. Aug. 22, 1799, and is one of the nine children born to Thomas and Jane (McClain) Barnes, natives of New York and Pennsylvania. He was reared a farmer in Greene county, Ohio, and in February 1820 married Miss Phoebe Gadd of Virginia, who bore him nine children. Mr. Barnes came to this township in 1843 from Carroll county, Indiana, where he had been living since 1834. He bought 143 acres of wild land which he has converted into one of the best farms in the township. In 1845 Mrs. Barnes died at the age of forty-two. September 3, 1846 Mr. Barnes married Mary Hamill, a native of Tennessee who bore him six children. The second Mrs. Barnes died in January 1855, and in the following October Mr. Barnes married Mrs. Prudence (Eldridge) Board of Shelby, County, Ohio, who became the mother of five children. Prudence Barnes was the daughter of Elijah and Elizabeth (Gibson) Eldridge, and had a daughter, Sarah E., by her first husband. Mr. Barnes served as Justice of Peace in Carroll, county, and was Township Trustee in Jackson Township nine years. His son, J. Albert, in the fall of 1864 at the age of seventeen enlisted in Company H, One Hundred and Forty-Second Indiana Volunteer Infantry and served until the close of the war. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes were members of the United Presbyterian Church of which he has been an Elder for forty years." Biographical note in "The Counties of White and Pulaski, Ind." 1883. F.A. Battey & Co., Chicago., page 305.

Thomas Barnes (2-6) stated that he was born "on the bluffs where Cincinnati now stands." Later he lived in Greene county, Ohio, where the family attended the Massey Creek Associate Church, and where also he was married. His uncles Alexander (4) and James (6) had preceded him to Indiana where on the opening of the Toledo and Wabash canal in 1827, James (6) founded a town in Carroll county and named it "Barnesville." The name was later changed to "Lockport." In 1834 Thomas (2-6) and his brothers Allen (2-5), David (2-8), and Amos Fulton (2-9) removed to this settlement from Ohio, and Thomas (2-6) and David (2-8) purchased adjoining farms. They did their trading on the canal, which ran from Toledo, Ohio, to Vincennes, Ind. In 1837 while they were residing in Carroll county, Thomas McLaughlin of Jackson township, White county, drew up an anti-slavery petition and among the 18 signers were Thomas (2-6), Allen (2-5) and David (2-8) Barnes.

In 1840 and 1841 Thomas Barns (2-6) went to Ohio to represent the Indiana members of the family in the final settlement of his father's estate in Greene county. There he attended court. He received $40 for his services. His widowed mother, Jane McClain Barns, made her home with Thomas (2-6) and died April 12, 1841.

In 1843 Thomas Barns (2-6) removed to White county, Ind. where he and his brother Allen (2-5) purchased adjoining farms in a region locally called the "barrens". At that time there was no town in the vicinity. A number of homes were built along the same road, which came to be known locally as "Stringtown Pike". Later a settlement grew up about a mile from the farm of Thomas Barns. The settlement was at first nick-named "Tom-gun", but now bears the more dignified name of "Idaville". Another settlement a few miles distant was at first nicknamed "Gitaway", but was later named "Burnettsville." The second school house built in Jackson township was erected in 1842 and stood on the Thomas Barns (2-6) farm near Idaville. The first teacher in this building was William Barns. The third schoolhouse was built in 1847. George Barnes (2-8-2) was one of the early teachers. John Bright was another.

Thomas Barns (2-6) was highly respected and universally loved in his community, where he was everybody's "Uncle Torry". He was an elder in the Seceder (Associate) church near Burnettsville and later in the United Presbyterian church at Idaville. He was strongly in favor of union between the Associate and Associate Reformed churches, and in 1857 was one of the delegates to the conference held in Xenia, Ohio, which sent down for overture the articles of union between these denominations. In 1908, his son Rev. J.A. Barnes, D.D. (2-6-10) was one of the delegates to the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church which celebrated the semi-centennial of this union in Pittsburg, Penna.

Thomas Barns (2-6) was elected Township Trustee in Adams Township, Carroll county in April 1839 and again in April 1840. He was elected trustee in Jackson township, White county, Ind. for a two year term Sept. 1846 and again April 7, 1856. He acted as administrator for a number of estates.

Thomas Barns (2-6) was married three times:-

Mary Hamill's parents died while she was young, and the large family of children was reared by various relatives. Mary was raised in the home of Robert and Jane Ferguson Hamill, Her father's name was John Hamill. Among the first of the Hamill's to come to Indiana was Robert A. Hamill, born in 1811 in Tennessee, who came to Carroll county, Ind. in 1835.

They lived for a time in Hamilton county, and later in Greene county, Ohio (near Clifton) close to Xenia. At the outbreak of the war of 1812, he and his brother Alexander (4) enlisted, as did also his nephews John (2-1) and James (2-2), sons of his brother Thomas (2). James (6) and Alexander (4) were present at the surrender of General Hull at Detroit.

After the close of the war James (6) and Alexander (4) removed to Indiana. James (6) settled in Vigo county at Fort Harrison, and was elected a Judge in that county in 1818. This was two years after the admission of Indiana as a state.

In 1827 the Erie and Wabash canal was opened, which greatly stimulated immigration into the state, James Barnes (6) removed to Adams township, Carroll county, in 1828 and laid out a town 12 miles from Delphi along the canal. This town was at first called "Barnesville", but later was called "Lockport."

James Barnes (6) was Associate Judge in White county in 1834 and 1841. The first session of the Circuit Court to meet in White county was held Oct. 17, 1834, and in the absence of the presiding Judge, was opened by the Associate Judges James Barnes and Thomas Wilson. (See "Counties of White and Pulaski, Ind." pages 17, 19, 42, 80.)

days, sometimes weeks, to make the passage. He was a quiet, amiable man, enjoying the fullest confidence and esteem of the community. He was a man of unobtrusive disposition, a singularly conscientious and God-fearing man, holding the reins of family government with a tenacity that savored of Puritanic firmness In 1833 he was married to Margaret Mountz by whom he raised a large family, of whom James H. is the second." (History of Carroll County, Ind. page 247.)

After the completion of the canal, his father and an uncle built a large warehouse and, under the firm name of W.A. and J.H. Barnes, conducted a general merchandise and produce business. In 1854 at the death of his father, James then eighteen years of age, quit the farm and assisted his uncle in the store. He remained with him five years when, at the age of twenty-three, he was elected Recorder of the county. He entered upon the duties of the office in 1859. When the war broke out, following the patriotic precedents of his ancestry, he quickly determined to enter the service of his country. He accordingly appointed the late Henry M. Graham deputy recorder, and enlisted July 15, 1862 in Company A, Seventy-Second Regiment Indiana Volunteers as a private soldier." He rose to the rank of 1st Lieutenant. Along with his regiment he participated in very active service, e.g. with "Wilder's Lightning Brigade", the Wheeler Raid, battles of Dalton, Big Shanty, Kenesaw Mountain, Rottenwood Creek (where his horse was shot under him,) Wilson's Cavalry Corps to Macon, Georgia.

"Mr. Barnes has been thrice married. His first marriage occurred Oct. 3, 1862 to Miss Emaline Gregg, who died March 20, 1868. On July 21, 1869 he was married to Miss Rachel Stanzel. By the hand of death he was deprived of her companionship January 10, 1875. He was again married Feb. 7, 1877 to Miss Mary E. Barker, of Fall River, Mass."

"Mr. Barnes was reared in the religious faith of the Associate Presbyterian church, or more commonly, the Seceder church. In 1862 however, he united with what was then styled the New School Presbyterian church, and has since been an earnest worker therein. His wife is also affiliated with the Presbyterian church. Mr. Barnes has been successful in his life work and enjoys the esteem ever accorded a valued citizen."
